

An illustration on a dark blue background. At the top, two stylized figures in olive green clothing are shown from the waist up, facing each other. They are holding several purple flowers with bright red petals. From the center where the flowers meet, a stream of white dots and lines radiates downwards, forming a constellation. The text is written in a red, handwritten-style font within this starry area. The figures' clothing has small white star-like details. The overall style is simple and illustrative.

...and naming that all of us
are worthy of participating in repair.

COSTELLO